Hearings Held For Stop Sign Violators

Only One Borough Resident Among 18 Who Receive Summonses to Appear.

ACCIDENTS DECREASE

At the first session of Police Court held at Elm Hall, Narberth, by Burgess Henry A. Frye for stop-sign violations yesterday morning, only one borough resident was among the eighteen who received summonses to appear. The remainder were from adjacent sections of the Main Line and other parts of Pennsylvania.

No fines were imposed on the eight who appeared, it being the first offense for all. Most of those who were called had not noticed the signs, but on their way to Elm Hall yesterday they "saw plenty."

One Merion woman stated that she objected to the feeling "of being policed" while another man "just drifted by."

"That the signs are accomplishing their purpose is clear," said Burgess Frye, "since there have been only two collisions in the borough during April, as opposed to two a week before their erection. We do not wish to impose hardships on anyone, but we are going to do our best to stop the epidemic of accidents that occurred in Narberth during 1929 and the first three months of 1930."

To the argument that strict enforce-

Lions Beat Colts For Bowling Title

Win Roll Off Last Friday by Two Out of Three Games

The Lions emerged the victors over the Colts in the battle for the year's championship of the Narberth Church Bowling League. The title bout was rolled off on the alleys of the Ardmore Recreation Center, on Friday evening, April 25.

The Colts won the first game by 22 pins, and were in a fair way to capture the title. The Lions rallied and won the second game by one pin. The Lions with their backs to the wall, and encouraged by a large gallery of fans, started the third game with determination, and when the individual scores had been totaled, it was found that

Lower Merion Teams Win Honors at Penn Relays

Both the Lower Merion High Schools won in their event at the Penn Relays last week. The Junior High School set a new record for the fifth time in seven years in the Junior High suburban half-mile relay. The Senior High School lost on Friday afternoon, but came back on Saturday to win readily in the mile relay. Rockwell, Taylor, Parks and Warner, the same team that lost on Friday, did the same distance on Saturday and won for Coach Adam and the Maroon. Johnson, Hayes, Parkinson and Taylor took the colors of the Junior High to victory.

Mormon Temple Secrets to Be Told at Narberth Church

Mrs. Lulu Loveland Shepard, known as "The Silver Tongued Orator of the Rocky Mountains," will speak to women only on the subject of "The Mormon Temple Secrets." This meeting will be held in the Narberth Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, May 7, at 2:30 P. M.

In this address Mrs. Shepard tells of the practices and customs in Mormon homes; the marriage ceremonies and other incidents in this so-called religion. Mrs. Shepard will also tell of the inner operations of that secret institution of the Mormon Church.

Borough Wets Organize to Back Anti-Prohibition Ticket; to Open Headquarters

At a meeting held on Sunday afternoon of this week, plans were made to organize the anti-prohibition sentiment in Narberth and its vicinity in behalf of the Bohlen-Phillips ticket. Headquarters, it is stated, will be opened in a store on Haverford Avenue, and arrangements were fomulated to assure a complete canvass of the Borough in order to center the protests against the present conditions in a rousing vote for the wet candidates.

Frank G. Schrepfer was elected as chairman and he will be assisted by a general committee composed of twenty men and women. Baird Caldwell was elected treasurer. An appeal for subscriptions to finance the publicity feature of the endeavor brought a quick response and local voters, it is said, will be well acquainted with the facts of the prohibition case from the opposition standpoint before the preliminaries occur.

Mr. Schrepfer is at present vice-commander of the Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion and is also a past commander. He is a professor of Landscape Architecture in the School of Fine Arts at the University of Pennsylvania, receiving his degrees from the University of Illinois, University of Chicago and Harvard University, from which institutions he was graduated.

He was a member of the American forces which formed the first Mexican expedition and he also served overseas with the 33d Division of the A. E. F., losing his right arm in the Battle of the Argonne. He is known as a forceful speaker and he has made, it is stated, an intensive study of the liquor question in all parts of the world.

A mass meeting will be held at Elm Hall on Tuesday evening, May 13, to be addressed by the candidates and other liquor reform advocates.

Boro School Board Elects New Principal

W. James Drennen Has Had Wide Experience as Elementary School Head.

ACTIVE IN SCOUT WORK

W. James Drennen, for the past five years supervising principal of the North Coventry district schools, was unanimously elected by the Narberth School Board last Friday night to the principalship of the borough schools for a period of three years, effective next fall.

Mr. Drennen will succeed George H. Wilson, Narberth schools principal for the past ten years, who is retiring with the reorganization of the schools upon an elementary school basis and a consequent reduction in salary. Mr. Drennen was hired by the Board at a salary of $3000 for the first year. Additional increments are planned by the Board for the succeeding years.

A graduate of Millersville State Teachers' College and Franklin and Marshall College, Mr. Drennen has also done graduate work in the School of Education at the University of Pennsylvania. He holds a college permanent certificate and a State Supervising Principal's certificate.

His teaching experience comprises one year as assistant principal at the West Earl High School, Brownstown, Pennsylvania; two years as principal of the Fulton Township Schools, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and five

'A Night Over There' Fixed For May 28th

Formation of Community Committee For Legion Affair Is Underway.

With the date definitely fixed as May 28, 1930, a wonderful Wednesday evening, and a great big orchestra engaged, "A Night Over There," for the benefit of the American Legion, under the auspices of a Community Committee, is beginning to assume those formidable proportions which will deliver it to Narberth's annals as one of the outstanding occasions of this blessed borough.

Underway is the formation of the Community Committee, a commitment which has been accepted by a temporary committee composed of J. J. Cabrey, Edward S. Haws, Dr. Le Roy A. King, Daniel Leitch, Robert J. Nash, Dr. O. J. Snyder, Fletcher W. Stites and Robert Fellows Wood, and from what they say Our Town's columns will be adorned next week with a lustrous list of those who have been elected to serve.

Past Presidents Reviw Club History

Recall Events in Club Years Since 1917; Officers Elected

MRS. GREEN RE-ELECTED

"Past Presidents' Day" at the meeting of the Women's Community Club of Narberth was in no way a dead affair, although, when the curtain was raised, the graves of the years 1917 to 1929 were disclosed, each decorated with plants and flowers. The voice of the spirit of 1917 was heard recalling to mind the thought of a Woman's Club. Then the shrouded figures of the several presidents appeared in turn with reminiscenses of all the club years during their several years in office. There was repeated laughter as the many things that happened to each one was brought to mind, along with all the fine things accomplished during all their terms of office.

Past Presidents, it seemed, may deserve a rest after their labors, but never in the grave of forgotten things.

The new officers elected for the coming year were: President, Mrs. W. Russell Green; First Vice President, Mrs. J. A. Hongler; Second Vice President, Mrs. W. C. Newman; Recording Secretary, Miss Margaretta Runyon; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Charles H. Shaw, and Treasurer, Mrs. E. H. Cockrill.

The Montgomery County Meeting to be held at Bryn Mawr on May 8 at 10:15 o'clock, was announced an all day meeting, with a flower show and several exhibits featuring the American Home Department, all offering prizes, baking, preserving, sewing and art, also an exhibit of antiques.

The Hospitality Committee through its Chairman, Mrs. Suzanne Gill, presented two lovely silver tea services and a tea table to the club. Mrs. Green, President, and Mrs. E. C. Drew, President of the board of directors, served at the tea table.

W. F. M. S. to Meet

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church will meet on Monday, May 5, at 2:30, at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Jenkins, Old Gulph Road. Donations will be in charge of Mrs. A. W. Ward. The program topic will be "From Jerusalem to Jerusalem." Solo, "Jerusalem," by Mrs. Samuel MacAdams. All members and friends are invited to attend this meeting.

Coal Prices Lowest in May, Dealers Declare

Lowest coal prices of the year will be available to Main Line buyers during May, according to announcement by retail coal dealers. The customary reduction by the operators at this time of year will be passed along to consumers by the dealers.

In conjunction with the price reduction, a change will be made in the unit of delivery, to a 200-pound basis. This is the standard in nearly every section of the country, and with the shift in the Philadelphia territory, it will be practically universal. It is also favored by the United States Government, according to Noah Swayne, of the Philadelphia Coal Conference.

Junior Community Club Very Gay with Various Affairs As Season Nears End

Activities are going full swing as social and business meetings crowd together the last weeks of the club year for the Junior Section, Women's Community Club of Narberth.

An interesting speaker at the last regular meeting was Mrs. M. Storb, of Yonkers, N. Y., formerly chairman of the Southeastern district, Women's Federation of Clubs, who spoke on "Why Organization?" The Juniors have perhaps been guilty of some neglect in the observance of proper club rituals of recent years, but after the illuminating discussion which Mrs. Storb invited at the end of her talk, it is certain that a stricter adherence to the rules of order will follow. Unfortunately, election of officers had to be postponed because a quorum was missing, but Mrs. C. D. Goodwin, the president, recessed the meeting until Wednesday, April 30, when election of officers proceeded at a special meeting, the returns of which will be announced next week.

On Saturday, May 3, a third in the series of card parties being sponsored by the Juniors, will be held at the club room in Elm Hall, under the direction of Mrs. James D. Moore and committee. The public is invited to attend and enjoy a social afternoon of cards, chatter and tea, with interesting prizes for the winners.

On Thursday, May 8, the regular club meeting will be in the form of a "Mothers and Daughters' Party" in celebration of Mother's Day to be observed this month. Center of entertainment will be a playlet entitled "Little Miss-Take," being coached by Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, program chairman, and including a cast of six club members. Decorations and other entertainment suitable to the occasion will follow, and a larger than usual refreshment committee promises to make it, all in all, a real party. Club members are to be sure to bring their own, or somebody's mother.

Another gala event, greatly looked forward to, is the garden party at which the Juniors will entertain the Senior Club's Executive Board. This will be held in the charming garden of Mrs. Robert J. Nash, who has offered it for the occasion, and will be an old-fashioned costume party, with hostesses and guests all hooped and be-ruffled after the fashion of long, long ago. Classical dancing, bridge and prizes for costumes will offer a variety of program that will make the affair one long to be recalled by the the club, and it is hoped, by their guests as well.

Such enthusiastic plans will surely be productive of zest sufficient to "carry over" until the fall, when it is hoped that many who ought to be members of the Juniors will bestir themselves to come out and join the ranks of those who are "betwixt and between" the Sub-Junior and the Senior organizations, and share their good times.—(G. If You Are A Dry In Fact

You Will Vote The Wet Ticket★

There is no disagreement between good, hard-headed citizens regarding the need or advantages of sobriety in our American life.

There has been, however, a real difference of opinion as to how this desirable end can best be accomplished.

For more than ten years the Nation has endeavored, by means of the Eighteenth Amendment and its supporting legislation, to prohibit traffic in liquor and to prevent its use except for religious and medicinal purposes.

Nearly a Billion Dollars have been spent or lost in a futile attempt to enforce the law, an amount which exceeds the returns from the Income Tax Law in any one year, and impartial observers must concur that present-day conditions are inherently more evil and more vicious than they have ever been since the Volstead Act came into existence.

In our own midst, and throughout the land, we have the plainest evidence of the havoc and injury which are being inflicted on our entire social and economic structure—we see the sorry trapping of our youth, the slimy trail of the bootlegger, the shocking hypocrisy of officeholders of high and low station, our livelihoods all awry, our people divided with an intensity and bitterness which utterly preclude the progress of the Nation towards its true destiny—a haven of happy men and women, at peace with themselves and with all the world, achieving a spiritual and material prosperity altogether impossible under the wretched circumstances which now obtain.

Into every household the insidious influence of the debacle finds its way, subtly and surely, and the discord and discontent which everywhere abound can be easily traced, in varying degrees, to this effort to substitute the mailed fist for the forces which ought to prevail if we read aright the history of civilization with its countless demonstrations of a nation's inability to enforce a law which does not have the whole-hearted sanction of its citizenry.

The solution of the pressing problem, now assuming crisis proportions, will, without a doubt, mark the beginning of a new era in our national life, a restoration of some of the precious things which have been lost to us, a rehabilitation of that virile morale which has its roots in a great charity encompassing all humanity, the fine, exalted principles which have made this a blessed land, with no excess of authority nor disregard of the need of a kindly moderation at all times and in all places.

Why cannot we hasten the day?

From all quarters come reports of the manner in which our fellow-citizens are protesting the harm which is being done, and pleading for the change which ought to come—with the poll of the Literary Digest, as yet incomplete, attracting more ballots than was the case in any of the tremendous Presidential straw votes.

The present score is 2½ to 1 against the existing law and when it is noted that the director of the poll is an ardent personal dry, the son of an Evangelical clergyman, additional evidence is afforded of the accurate registration which is being accomplished.

Nevertheless, Prohibition has served its good purpose, in giving us all the extensive experience which will enable us to determine accurately and definitely what we don't want and what we do want:

We don't want unbridled liquor—none of us. We don't want saloons—none of us. We don't want intemperance—none of us. But we do want:

A law that will work—a law that will be respected—a law that will put liquor in its place and keep it there—a law that will co-operate (with intelligent cognizance of human nature and human motives) with educational and religious endeavor in behalf of true temperance—a law that will help us to protect our youth—a law that will rid us of the crooks and rascals in and out of public office who are at present a veritable plague in all parts of the country. We want a law which will be enforced because our people will believe in it and will see to it that it is enforced—a sensible, sane law which corresponds with the needs of the occasion and the prestige, patriotism and honor of Americans.

Prohibition as expressed in the Eighteenth Amendment has failed—it had to fail; we must strive for a better way—and those who have had the track for the last ten years, who have had a fair opportunity to give force to their remedy, owe it to their country, to its peace and welfare, to help accomplish a different and more effective plan.

The call on them for this support is irresistible if their true purpose is to cure and not to kill; to rescue, not to destroy; to reject Toryism when experience proves it to be Toryism, and certainly the record of the last decade proves nothing short of that.

So, then, if you are a Dry-in-fact you will, to accomplish the purpose you desire, vote the Wet Ticket*—

You will vote it because you believe in True Temperance.—You will vote it because you believe it is a foul thing for your country to be the victim of a condition with which it cannot possibly cope.—You will vote the Wet Ticket* because therein lies hope of redemption, of real improvement and correction.—You will vote the Wet Ticket* because you have the honesty and courage to admit that there may be another and better way of achieving the goal for which you seek.—You will vote the Wet Ticket* because you see every other country in the world which has tried Prohibition forced to repudiate it.—You will vote the Wet Ticket* because you have learned, as a consequence of these ten trying years, that Absolute Prohibition must, in the very nature of things, always be an Absolute Failure—

Failure in the sense of accomplishing permanent progress—failure in the sense of not being able to do what it set out to do.

And you won't forget that the question transcends in its importance any other feature of our civil life—You want your country on its way to brighter and better times—You will vote the Wet Ticket* because it is the one big opportunity available to you to rid your land of the liquor troubles which so sorely beset it.

You will not be diverted by expediency—you will meet the issue fairly and squarely and you will use your ballot in the splendid service of your own United States.

★ Which is the Dry Ticket in fact. A vote for a "dry" candidate, or a straddler, is a vote in favor of illicit liquor—don't let that truth be overlooked.

FORE AND AFT

One hundred and fifty-five years cannot diminish the exhilarating geniality of Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals," which will brighten the Broad Street Theatre, the week of May 5 to 10.

Filled to overflowing with hilarious exuberance; impelled onward by the rollicking lines; gaining shape and form from the veracity of its characters, it is an immortal piece of fooling, sunny as youth, sparkling as drops of water on a tremulous leaf, and spirited as the jauntiest urchin. It has an unending life because its people have caught and held these qualities that are present in all of us. Although its happenings are among the funniest on the stage today, or any other day, these incidents are more than obviously humorous, for they are evoked naturally and not for the artificial purpose of creating momentary laughter. Only now and then does Sheridan seem to have descended to the device of flagrantly interesting "the pit" in the proceedings.

The piece is, for the most part, acted as well as anyone is likely to see it acted, according to the advance reports. Mrs. Fiske is playing the role in which she captured the country during a transcontinental tour five years ago, the ludicrous, pompous, English-killing Mrs. Malaprop. James T. Powers will again be seen in his laughable characterization of Bob Acres in which he covered himself with glory during the same tour. Pedro de Cordoba will be Faulkland; Rollo Peters, Captain Jack Absolute; John Craig, Sir Anthony Absolute; Andrew Mack, the fire-eating Sir Lucius; Margery Maude, returning to the stage after several years' retirement, will be Lydia; and the other roles will be in the capable hands of George Tawde, Betty Linley, Georgette Cohan and Edward Powell.

A real novelty will take place when George M. Cohan appears as the Vagabond in "The Tavern" for two weeks at the Garrick Theatre starting Monday, May 5. Members of the "Gambling" company, now in Boston, will be seen in the various roles.

"The Tavern" was first produced at the beginning of 1920 season in New York. Arnold Daly, since deceased, had the leading role. Later Mr. Cohan took over the part and, although the satire has appeared in many American cities, for some reason or other Philadelphia was omitted.

Mary Philips, seen here last spring as Mazie in "Gambling," is the mysterious woman in "The Tavern." Joe Allen, remembered best from "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and "The Baby Cyclone," augments the membership by returning to his old duties as The Hired Man.

Robert Middlemass is assigned as the Tavern Keeper, Isabel Baring is the Governor's Daughter, Jack Leslie is to be the Governor and Douglas MacPherson in the Fiance.

The first performances of the revival are now being given in Boston at evenings only. After two weeks of visits to New England, where both "The Tavern" and "Gambling" are to be acted a la the repertory plan, Mr. Cohan and his entourage will set sail for the Garrick.

For those who seek information about the nature of "The Tavern" let it be said that the story tells of a Vagabond who sees drama in life. A hold-up has been committed on a lonely road and as the victims enter the old inn he realizes that a good play and good characters are before him. He thereupon shapes a play as he would have it.

Mr. Cohan considers it his best work. It is satire of the sweetest sort. Travesty of the stage and burlesque of life are heaped upon each other in gorgeous fun.

The Colyum Changes Hands

Last week Uncle Cy bade us adieu as chief columnist and tossed the reins to Jess A. Littlekiss. There was no certainty that Jess would grasp the ribbons, but he did.

Inasmuch as Uncle Cy has finally determined to relinquish the job, we believe you will welcome Jess, who of late has been one of the chief contributors, to the post. He is well qualified and has the added advantage of inheriting a number of Uncle Cy's contributors. The uncle inaugurated the column about three years ago and built it up to probably the most reader-responsive department published in any suburban newspaper.

We regret that Uncle Cy must depart anonymously, but such is his wish. We would also like to tell you who Jess really is, but that would spoil the whole idea. Besides this paper's management at present is altogether unaware of his identity.

Boy Week

With the dawn of tomorrow (Saturday) thousands of boys in Lower Merion and Radnor Townships and the Borough of Narberth will take over the limelight of interest for a very full and active eight days. Parades, exhibits and about every conceivable sort of contest that can capture a boy's attention will crowd upon each other during the week. It will keep the youngster busy to avoid missing something, but he will manage somehow, for he has boundless energy.

Boy Week has attained the distinction of an institution which should stand. For it will never be an old story to the new recruits it enlists annually and these same boys will ever have something new and refreshing to offer to the folks who must grow older, but who want to stay young.

The Major Local Issue

Platforms of all sorts and descriptions are being offered to local voters by candidates for various offices at the Primary Election less than three weeks hence. Numerous issues, with several shades of the liquor problem in the forefront, are being presented. But out of the confusion of Who's For What, one clear-cut question is presented: Do you favor a continuation of organized political leadership in Montgomery County?

Political opponents of Charles Johnson proposed this issue and supporters of the Republican leader accepted it with alacrity. The fight, if it can be called such, will be a defense by the organization against several flank attacks, with the offense trying desperately to unite for a charge on the front. It's rather difficult to see how harmony can come out of the various "unorganized" elements which are waging this battle against Mr. Johnson's alleged dictatorship.

Next to the handicap of being an allied rather than a united opposition is the dislike of the majority of residents for drastic changes in policies. High ideals and personal ability are splendid qualifications for any candidate. But the average conservative voter wants to know whether taxes are going to be lowered or raised and what share his community might expect in the way of better roads and other improvements. He has sort of come to depend on the organization to attend to these matters and is willing to grant that the judgment used, on the whole, has been good.

More About More Jobs

In last Friday's issue of the Haverford Township News, Armand N. Spitz, its publisher, offered to publish "Help Wanted" and "Situation Wanted" advertisements free of cost in an effort to help relieve the unemployment situation. Mr. Spitz also generously gives credit for the idea to the Livingston Publishing Company's group of news-magazines, which have been publishing "Help Wanted" ads free of cost for several weeks and which will continue to offer this service for four more weeks. While greatly appreciating the recognition given, this paper in honesty must give some credit for its inspiration to Heywood Broun, the Main Line Federation of Churches and other agencies which have recognized the gravity of the situation.

Jess Takes Reins of UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

A Request

The sudden retirement of the venerable Uncle Cy has placed our publisher in rather of a quandary. There can scarcely be an "Uncle Cy's Column" without an Uncle Cy. Consequently, the column to the right of the editorials finds itself in a peculiarly unpleasant nameless condition. We (that is, Mr. Littlekiss) have consented to be chief columnist pro tem. But our intellect is not sufficiently potent to cope with the problem of naming the column. Jasmine wants to call it "Jess in Fun"; but we assure all the readers that we have an inherent dislike of puns. Unless, however, better suggestions are forthcoming from the populace of the Main Line, Jasmine's suggestion will be adopted. In the interests of progress and culture, then, our readers are advised to don their thinking-caps and devise an attractive appellation for this most recent child of the columnistic world.

An Announcement

This column is going to be non-partisan, non-sectarian and nonsensical. It will never have an axe to grind. Even if it could find an axe, this column will never have the mechanical skill to grind it. This column will have no row to hoe. It will be the aim of this column to drop a little ray of sunshine into the lives of all. There will here be no trampling on tender toes. Of course, this column will have its pet prejudices. Somehow or another, we have never been quite in sympathy with the "talkies," nor with those blithering knobbleheads who must eternally debate the so-called "prohibition question." We are firmly against communism, interurban busdrivers, stiff shirts and the absurd custom of tipping. Beyond these small considerations, we are open-minded and broadminded. This column is to belong to the public. It is yours, my friends. If anything is said that happens to offend your sensibilities or superstitions, just write in. And see how much good it will do you.

An Introduction

(which we are compelled by modesty to write in the third person).

Mr. Littlekiss was born several years ago in Pittsburgh. Some of his few friends say that he has been in a fog ever since, but this, of course, is not completely true. He has his lucid moments. During one of these latter moments he managed to squeeze past the College Board. It was a year when the Board was having a busy time and rumor has it that many of the papers were not even read. This may or may not be a fact, but it suffices to tell that he DID enter a university. Some four years later the faculty of the university heaved a great sigh of relief and handed Mr. Littlekiss a slight slip of sheepskin which entitles him to twenty dollars a week from any investment banking house in the East. Mr. Littlekiss still has the sheepskin. And he is still hoping to acquire the twenty dollars a week.

While in residence at the university Mr. Littlekiss ran a poker game and a column. The former was more successful than the latter. Nevertheless, he is a most old-fashioned sort of a fellow. He has the quaint idea that Walter Scott was a greater novelist than Edna Ferber, that in some few ways Milton surpassed Hoffenstein. He has a great reverence for law, beautiful ladies and rare postage stamps. He is fond of dogs, sunshine and the Saturday Evening Post. He regards the Main Line as an ideal place to live; yet he would not be averse to having the "diner" removed from its prominent location on the pike. Mr. Littlekiss may be distinguished from most other Main Liners by the single fact that he has never written a novel. He has never even tried to write one. Some day, of course, the Great American Novel will be coming along; and then you, one and all, will know that Mr. Littlekiss has finally written his novel.

Business Sidelights

BY PAT

Here's a bit of advice—warning—before the Japanese Beetle establishes a permanent residence in the Main Line area!

At the present time, the small white grubs, which were hatched from eggs laid by the beetle last fall, are lodged just below the surface of the ground. Before warm weather, these grubs feed on grass roots, destroying any lawn in which they are lodged. It is not uncommon to find as many as 1500 grubs to a square yard of lawn area. Think of it! Then early in June the grub becomes a beetle, feeding on your choice grapevines, lovely flowers, Elm, Willow, Horse Chestnut, Sassafras, Linden and other trees—but these are their favorites. Last year the eastern portion of the Main Line had the heaviest beetle infestation, but they are migratory pests, and this year it has been found that the grub areas are further out on the Main Line, where last year the infestation was relatively light.

Indications resulting from soil examinations throughout the Main Line, made by the Davey Tree Expert Co., prove that there will be a more general infestation this year as the areas heavily infested in 1929 appear to have sufficient grubs to indicate the situation to be as serious this year; while grubs found farther out on the Main Line indicates the pests are spreading steadily.

These grubs can be destroyed by spraying the lawn with arsenate of lead in a water solution. This method is approved by the Japanese Beetle Commission and has proven more effective as it not only instantly kills the grubs which eat it, but a more uniform application can be applied and thus the control is more economical.

The Davey Tree Expert Co., Land Title Bldg., Phila., have been very successful in this method of Japanese Beetle grub control—and they will be glad to discuss this important issue with you. This year they have installed additional spraying apparatus in the Main Line territory to adequately serve their clients' demand for Japanese Beetle grub control. This means quick action—no grubs—no beetle infested lawn this summer!

Start Endowment Fund at St. John's Church

Two big things happened Easter Day at St. John's Church, Cynwyd. Dr. Henry A. F. Hoyt started the endowment fund of the parish with a thank offering of $500. The idea of an endowment has just been put forward and the Rector Emeritus leads the way as he has done for over thirty-five years.

The other big thing was the Lenten offering which totaled $1211, with a few more scholars to be heard from. It will be divided as specials for missionary work and $300 used for making up the parish quota. Five hundred dollars will be added to the John Marston Lenten Memorial Fund, a fund started by this Sunday School to commemorate the originator of the Lenten offering. This will bring that fund up to $4500 plus. The interest is used annually to aid men in foreign fields while studying for the ministry.

George Olsen's Latest

George Olsen has a musical manner all his own. We might call it "Olsenesque" to describe it. Let it suffice to say that it results in the smoothest kind of rhythm. Two numbers from the latest "talkie," "King of Jazz" will demonstrate just what we mean. Hear "It Happened in Monterey" and "The Song of the Dawn" and we're sure that you'll become a red hot Olsen fan. Lots of others on this week's list to tickle your feet and ears. Come in . . . let us play them for you. It places you under no obligation.

Library Notes

Very few people who frequent libraries have any idea of the work of the librarians, even in so small an institution as the Narberth Community Library. A girl announcing her intention of going to a library school meets with the almost automatic response, "Why go to a school? What does a librarian do but stamp a date?" Or the comment may be, "How nice! Such an easy, ladylike occupation!" A series of comments on the variety and detail of the work which your libarians in Narberth are doing, week in and week out, may be interesting.

The logical beginning is the choice and purchase of books. The librarian, with the co-operation of a committee of trustees, constantly watches advertisements, publishers' lists, book reviews and the suggestions of patrons, and taking into account literary value, probable popularity, the needs of different sections of the library's collections, and always the price, makes up her lists. At least monthly she sends to her dealer an order, thus carefully chosen, and made up with equal care, for author, title and publisher must all be clearly given to assure accurate filling of the order.

Hamilton Advocates Chain Banks at Convention

In an address before the third annual meeting of the Montgomery County Bankers' Association held at Norristown last Thursday, Richard J. Hamilton, of Ardmore, president of the Merion Title and Trust Company and retiring president of the association, advocated chain banks. He also congratulated the bankers on their facilities.

The banquet was oponed with invocation by the Rev. John Van Ness, pastor of the Narberth Presbyterian Church. Harry J. Haas, of Ardmore, vice president of the American Bankers' Association, was one of the speakers. John W. Phillips, president of the Ardmore Title and Trust Company, was named to the Council on Administration.

Traction Company Absorbs Independent Bus Lines

Acquisition by the Philadelphia and West Chester Traction Company, subject to approval of the Public Service Commission, of all remaining independent bus lines radiating from the 69th Street Terminal, was announced Monday night by A. Merritt Taylor, president of the company, at a testimonial dinner given in his honor by the Garrett Road Merchants Association at the Bellevue-Stratford.

Co-ordination of all lines converging at the terminal into a more efficient transportation machine, with co-ordinated schedules and rates, including free transfer privilege at intersecting points, is planned, according to the announcement.

The Philadelphia and West Chester Traction Company has one of its terminals at Ardmore and several of the bus lines affected operated in this section.

"Time Out"

By Tommy Macklin

Harvey Harman, erstwhile Haverford College football coach and more recently coach-elect of Sewanee Military College, is rounding out his seventh year as track coach at Lower Merion Junior High School.

Some people consider that coaching in a Junior High School is no job at all, and is just a matter of worrying along with a group of boys until they get old enough to understand a little about athletics. So it is to those who do not apply themselves and who do not give the boys the benefit of real coaching. There is no group of athletes in the world who respond so naturally and readily to a conscientious coach as do the young, unspoiled boys of the Junior High School age.

Harman is, undoubtedly, one of the conscientious type. Take, for instance, the records of his relay team at the Penn Relays. The Junior Suburban Half-Mile relay was a new event seven years ago when Lower Merion Junior High School was exactly eight months old. Harman, the new coach, entered a team which walked off with the event for their first record. Way, Royster, Houghton and Houseman formed the team that ran away from a field of ten entries for a victory in 1 minute 44 seconds. The second year with Smith, Johnny Hand, Way and Gerenbeck he created a new record by winning the event in 1:41 2-5. The third year was a slap in the face, and no fault of his own. With a first-class relay team, Harman drew seventeenth place which put his man back on the fourth row in a half-mile relay race. Quite a tough draw, we say. As a result Briggs, the lead-off man, was boxed and shortly afterward, pushed completely off the track and the Orange and Black could only come in sixth. This same relay team later helped to win the Suburban Championships. Every year since that time, with the exception of 1928, Harman's relay team has won the event by setting new marks for the distance. That year the team came in second but beat the previous record in doing so.

Last Friday with Carl Johnson, Arthur Parkinson, Joe Hayes and Capt. Bob Taylor running, the team walked off from a good field to win in a new time of 1:39 3-10. Taylor, running anchor, was leading the second man by a good twenty yards at the finish.

In addition to these victories at the Penn Relays, Coach Harman has for six consecutive years won the Suburban Junior High Track championship, and this season has started off in the usual style by taking the first two dual meets by one-sided scores. Last week they trounced Lansdowne by an 85-to-29 score and Tuesday at Haverford Junior High the Orange and Black won, 87 to 22.

Gerenbeck, one of Harman's stars in 1925, is running the 100-, 220- and 440-yard sprints for Haverford College and is one of the fastest college men in this section. Houseman, of the '24 team, was captain and star at the Senior High School and also a varsity track man at Pennsylvania. Reynolds, who ran for Harman in '26 and '27, was a star at Episcopal Academy for two years. Bowman and Warner, of the 1927 relay team, are stars on Coach Adam's team at the high school now, and Warner is their captain. Rockwell and Louis Buek are two of Adam's best bets in the dashes also.

We consider these records as quite a testimonial to the work of Coach Harman at Lower Merion, and also a living example of what can be done to start the young boy on the right path in athletics.

Officers Nominated at Fire Company Meeting

Officers were nominated at the April meeting of the Narberth Fire Company on Tuesday night for the ensuing year as follows: For president, Tristan B. DuMarais; for vice president, Edwin P. Dold; for treasurer, George B. Suplee; for secretary, James Frazier Purse; for financial secretary, Robert Mueller; for chief engineer, Charles V. Noel.

Election of this slate, which is the same as this year's list, will take place at the May meeting of the Fire Company.

The only contests will be for the post of trustee, with four nominees and two vacancies. William Newborg, whose term expires, was re-nominated. E. C. Griswold, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Taylor Henry, refused to be a candidate for re-election. Other nominations made and seconded were F. A. Egmore, Albert H. Nulty and John Paul. The term of trustees is for a three-year period.

Discussion of the merits of instruction in fire fighting methods by Philadelphia Fire School instructors took place at the meeting.

Cubs Take Two Games, Beating Jr. Narmer and Cardinals on Same Day

Last Saturday morning the Cubs added another victory to their list of wins by beating Junior Narmer by the score of 9-4 on the Merion School Field. Burgess and Peterson were the Cubs' hitting stars, while Burns led the Narmer clubmen. Finnan was the fielding star for the Cubs and Rittenhouse for Narmer. Score by innings:

Cubs	1	2	0	0	5	0	1	0	0	—9

Batteries—Burgess and Peterson for the Cubs; Gandy and Buek for Narmer.

The Cardinals went down to defeat in the afternoon game by the score of 19-5. Fred Disque pitched good ball holding his opponents to one hit and no runs for seven innings and his mates gave the Cardinals their five runs on errors. Peterson's home run featured the afternoon game. Weiss was the Cardinals' hitting star, collecting two singles. Dick and John Whitney formed the batteries for the Cardinals, while Disque and Peterson and Anderson were the batteries for the Cubs. On Saturday morning the Cubs will play Ardmore at Narberth.

Outline "Life" Policy

Ignoring the advancing years, a 96-year-old retired tobacco merchant last Friday attended a luncheon given in Mutual Life Insurance Company and was given a check in payment for a his honor by officials of the Provident life insurance policy taken out fifty-five years ago.

In the spring of 1875, Joseph D. Eberbach, now of Cynwyd, decided to make provision against old age by taking out a life insurance policy. At the age of 96, it was found, Eberbach really should be "dead," so far as mortality tables go.

So, on Friday, officials of the company tendered him a check covering the full monetary value of the policy.

Cynwyd Woman Rechosen President of Union

Mrs. H. Childs Hodgens, of 34 Lodges Lane, Bala-Cynwyd, was re-elected president of the Women's Interdenominational Union at the annual meeting in the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal Church, Broad and Arch Streets, Monday.

Mrs. William Boyd was elected vice president-at-large; Mrs. D. Burt Smith, secretary; Mrs. Albert M. Barnes, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Joseph H. Parvin, treasurer.

Wins Six Cents Verdict

A verdict of six cents was awarded last Friday in Norristown against John R. K. Scott, Philadelphia attorney, who lives at Strafford, in a suit for $50,000 brought against him by Mrs. Alma Hutchinson. The jury was out six hours.

Mrs. Hutchinson contended Mr. Scott had permitted her to engage him as her counsel in action taken against her husband while Mr. Scott already was counsel for her husband's father and was the owner of an apartment house at Bala-Cynwyd from which she had been evicted.

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

In the past Mr. Littlekiss has rather fancied himself as a paragrapher. Readers of his column may then expect an occasional pun. In very low moments he writes an occasional bit of verse. Most of the time he runs a path of placid prose between these two evil extremes.

And an Appreciation

It is only fitting that words should be spoken of the departure of Uncle Cy. More than anyone else, perhaps, we enjoyed following his thoughts in this column. While we rarely agreed with him, he stimulated us. He's a kindly old gent, a sun-burned hearty fellow; the kind of a man who is good company on a fishing trip. Uncle Cy is sort of a Main Line institution, and any time that he wants to come back, he's welcome here. But when literary professionalism calls, one must answer.

Solution of Uncle Cy's Problem

In his closing effusion your Uncle Cy related a touching traveling anecdote. It seemed that he had left Aunt Cy in the Big Town. And he was traveling alone on the train. And the most charming young lady sat in the chair next to his. Your Uncle Cy wanted to talk to her, all across New Jersey he wanted to talk to her. Yet he never awakened enough nerve to make the attempt. What procedure should he have used? There are many methods. "Where have I met you before?" is probably the most extensively used and the most efficient. Yet he could have picked up the handkerchief which she indubitably dropped seventeen times on the trip over. All women drop hankies. He could have proffered her his magazine or newspaper. He could have remarked on the natural beauty of the countryside as they crossed the Raritan. He could have pointed out the gleaming towers of Princeton on the hill as they sped across the lowlands. He could have looked very, very lonely, and she would have spoken to him first. He could have done a million and three different things, any one of which would have produced the desired result. And I scarcely imagine that any one of these methods would have resulted in his being slandered or sued afterwards. Good gravy-ladles, she would not even have remembered him a week hence. They never do.—Jess A. Littlekiss.

EDITOR'S NOTES:

To Our Readers: An award of five dollars ($5) in gold will be made to the Main Line or Bala-Cynwyd resident who submits the most suitable and appropriate title for the foregoing column on or before Tuesday, May 13, 1930. The right to reject all entries for the honor of naming the column is reserved in case none are found suitable. Mail your suggestions to Editorial Department, Livingston Publishing Company, 35 Cricket Avenue, Ardmore, Pa.

To Jess: Come in or give us a ring. The publisher desires to discuss with you over a 35-cent lunch—or is it luncheon?—(he to pay both checks) the merits of postage stamps printed on thick and thin paper.

Glenside Man Tells About Rock Gardens

Describes Flowers Suitable For Plot Before Bryn Mawr Woman's Club

Mr. William Rothe, of Glenside, spoke at the Woman's Club of Bryn Mawr on Monday afternoon on "Rock Gardens." His talk was illustrated with attractive views of various gardens in this vicinity and around Glenside.

According to Mr. Rothe those wishing to have a beautiful garden should love beauty and flowers. He said that a rock garden should not necessarily be a large plot, but could be a tiny corner along the boundaries of a dry wall or along a path.

Among the plants which do well in this kind of a garden are crocus for the early spring, preferably yellow; the yellow bushy alyssum saxatile compactum will give a touch of sunlight in a shady spot; oenotheria (evening primrose) in yellow and white; the infinite shading of the yellow poppies; the delicate annual erysinium (Fairy Wall Flower) which is so like its more sturdy namesake, the bright golden yellow primula (or English cowslip), will make your rock garden gay. The arabis alpina, which resembles a snowdrift, so completely is it covered by its white flowers in the early spring and it thrives in the shade. The tiny sea-pink (armeria maritima) will cover bare slopes with a mass of deepest pink in May and June.

Columbines make a brave showing and the aubretias, in various blues and violets, are most dazzling in their profusion and color. Sexifrage, which grows in stout clumps or tufts, gives a variety of purple shade, while phlox sublata, which may be depended upon to cover the stonework gracefully, should also be planted in the Rock Garden.

For those who care for blue flowers, the plumbago is covered with blue blossoms in August and September. There is also a dwarf variety of veronica which in June carpets the bed with a coverlet of skyblue, while hepatica and forget-me-nots will suggest themselves to everyone.

As far as other plants go there are asters, viola, campanula, lychnis, sedum, spirea, wild single roses, azalea—anything in fact which is not too formal and may be satisfactorily used, if planted sparingly and if balanced distinctively by shrubs, evergreens or some other growth.

KONATE!

One Treatment Ends Moth Damage for Three Years—and You Receive an Insurance Policy to Guarantee it!

Chemists at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, University of Pittsburgh, spent years in the development of a moth-proofing solution that would be so sure, so infallible that it could be guaranteed!

Had those chemists failed, you would never have heard of the result of their research. But they succeeded and the result of their efforts is KONATE!

We are the sole Philadelphia Service Agents for KONATE. And we are now equipped to make your valuable rugs, drapes, furs, furniture and clothing absolutely immune to moth damage for a period of at least three years. We'll go a step farther. We'll guarantee that immunity. Then we'll go a step farther than that! We'll give you an insurance policy from Lloyd's Casualty Company.

Find out about KONATE. Get the facts by telephoning now to Evergreen 1200 or Michigan 9100. Let us tell you how it is done, where it is done, who has had it done, what it costs and why you should have it done. You aren't obligated by asking for the facts about KONATE or about any other of our complete services, such as storing, moving, shipping or packing.

Boys Inaugurate Their Big Week on Saturday

Beginning with a parade and mardi gras tomorrow (Saturday) morning, boys of this section begin their annual week of special occasions. An extensive program will be carried out by the youngsters during the next eight days.

On Sunday there will be a mass meeting for all boys, their parents and friends in the Seville Theatre, Bryn Mawr, at 3:30 P. M.

Monday, preliminary athletic contests will be held at the various local public and parochial schools.

Tuesday will mark the observance of Boy Week in Schools.

Wednesday is Father and Son Day.

Thursday is the biggest day of the week when bugle and harmonica contests are held, with the finals in the marble tournament.

Friday, Boy Scouts in Citizenship Day.

Saturday, May 10, will be celebrated with a swim meet at the Ardmore Y. M. C. A., a model airplane contest and exhibition at the Ardmore Theatre, outdoor flying model contest, kite flying contest, athletic contest finals at the Lower Merion High School athletic field, hobby contest at neighborhood stores, and in the evening, awards to the winners at the five community theatres.

Boys from Lower Merion and Radnor townships, and from the borough of Narberth, are eligible to compete.

Young People's Bible Class Holds Social Meeting

By E. N. Merkel, Jr.

The Young People's Bible Class of the Narberth Presbyterian Church had an enjoyable business and social meeting last Friday evening at the home of Peter Stam, Jr. Those present were Frances Armour, Florence Schollenberger, Maude Donaldson, Faith McAuliffe, Mildred McCutcheon, Margaret Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McAuliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Markel, Jr., Kenneth Taylor, George Donaldson, James McCutcheon, John Havelick, Fred Maier, Alexander Burt, Richard Timm, Austin Hartzell, Willard Bowman, Harry Gardinar, Robert Wolf and Mr. Robb, the superintendent of the Sunday School.

In an interesting psychological test, in which we learned how little we remembered of our class room, Mildred McCutcheon was the winner. She received as a prize, a copy of "The Americanization of Edward Bok." In the "Go till you guess" Bible game, Faith McAuliffe and John Havelick were winners, receiving copies of "Tomorrow about this time," and a Bible dictionary. In a slang contest Bob Wold unexpectedly emerged the victor, having written down the smallest number of slang expressions, much to the chagrin of those with long lists. Bob received a copy of Lindberg's "We."

At the business meeting it was decided to hold a contest for new members. Faith McAuliffe and Ed Merkle were chosen leaders. This class was honored by the church this week in the election of two of its members by the congregation to serve as deacons.

The class also conducted the opening exercise of the Sunday School last Sunday in an interesting manner. Jim McCutcheon presided. Fred Maier led the singing and Kenneth Taylor gave a short talk. A fine attendance of the class and of the whole school was noted, which was gratifying considering the short notice for arranging the program and the change to daylight time.

DRAW YOUR OWN PARALLEL

[From the testimony given at Washington by Sir Henry L. Drayton, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board.]

"We had ten years of prohibition. We voted prohibition during the World War when we were short of food and felt we should do everything to make possible the success of the war. We had prohibition for ten years.

"When the change came it was not brought about by a change in sentiment. We have as much temperance sentiment in Ontario as perhaps any other similar group of people.

"But the change came about because of what followed prohibition. We had a new and not very desirable class of capitalists spring up. We had swamp liquor. We had substitutes of all kinds. Deaths followed. We had a growing use of flasks and a growing disrespect for all law.

"We came to ourselves and found that prohibition did not prohibit at all. We found that the law was debasing the moral tone of the whole country, and when we voted for a change in the system we surely were not doing so out of any loss of sentiment for temperance.

"The people of Canada want temperance now more than ever. I thought prohibition a good thing. I will be frank with you, I supported the movement for five years.

"But the very worst thing that happened with us was that the intensive temperance campaign on which prohiibtion was voted ceased when prohibition became law. For them the goal had been reached. It was then a matter for the Government.

"It was no longer a matter of right or wrong, it was a matter of jails and fines, of pains and penalties. The program of moral suasion was succeeded by a program of legislative force which did not and could not work with us."

entire village, with Jones and his wife stepping right out amongst them, a whole-hearted endeavor to restore some of that good spirit which used to prevail hereabouts five or six years ago, but which has been allowed to grow lax as the town assumed new dimensions.

Mrs. Arthur L. Cooke leads the ladies on the important task of ticket-distribution and every happy household in our midst is sure to have the opportunity of making the affair one glorious success.

The program will be comprehensive, something of this and that for all trends and tastes, as it's a queer world we live in and many are its dispositions, hence the great necessity of variegation and versatility, not to mention volubility, for which there will also be a place, in the deep woods round about the Merion Tribute House, over there.

Buses will go to and from Essex and Forest Avenues the whole night long and of course there shall be ample parking room for those who will use their own chariots.

In the breastworks the program committee, composed of all the members of the American Legion, is sorting and choosing the list which will compose the advertisers whose privilege and pleasure it shall be to add their stipends to the grand sum-total, a feature of the case from which much is expected, and much indeed it ought to be, for Narberth is proud of its service men and is mindful of the things for which they stand—and of those years ago when they went away and when not all of them returned.

It is in truth no ordinary affair which now engages the attention of the community.

Station Improvements Rounding Into Shape

For several months past workmen have been engaged on minor improvements at the Narberth Station. This week sees the virtual completion of the work on the south side platform. Cut down several feet when the tracks were moved south to ease the curve at the station, the platform has been widened, the board platform has been replaced by a macadam treated surface banked with a concrete wall, and an iron rail fence has replaced the wooden fence.

The spot of greenery on the north side of the station round which traffic weaves in the rush hours of the evenings, has been reduced about two-thirds, allowing greater parking facilities, and also, it is understood, room for busses to load and unload on east and westbound trips. The tree which graces the spot will remain, at least as long as it is able, refulgent with peace and quiet for harried commuters.

years as Supervising Principal of the North Coventry district schools (including Junior and Senior High Schools and elementary schools), Chester County, near Pottstown, Pa.

Mr. Drennen has been active in Boy Scouts and Parent-Teacher Association work. He is a member of the Pennsylvania State Education Association and the Sigma Pi Fraternity.

The selection of Mr. Drennen by the School Board was made because of his outstanding work as a supervisor of elementary schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Drennen will take up their residence in Narberth in the early summer.

The borough schools will close for the year on June 13. The summer school session, beginning its third year in co-operation with the summer school of the University of Pennsylvania, will commence July 7. It will comprise grades four to seven and will run for six weeks.

The contract for the wire fence to be erected along the Montgomery Avenue side of the school playground was awarded to the Wayne Iron Works. Concrete steps and a gate will be installed at the west end. The fence was deemed a necessary safety precaution in view of the heavy traffic passing along Montgomery Avenue. Construction of the fence will begin immediately.

Narway Takes Two

After dropping the first game of the season to Merion B. C., the Narway A. A. played a return game on Merion's field and came home on the long end of an 18-to-7 score. Chain gave up seven hits and struck out nine men.

Saturday the team had little trouble in subduing Gladwyne, 12 to 8. Narway touched Tanner for twenty hits, thirteen of which were contributed by Chain, Blessing, O'Keefe and Wilson. Barrow led the visitors with three hits, but most of the team's runs were scored on Narway's collection of six errors. "Bud" Newborg, the home team's star left hander, allowed only eight hits, while he fanned five batters.
